HAIL BOARD REFORMED

It will be good news to everyone in an agricultural district to know that the Hail Insurance Board was reorganized at the recent Provincial Session. Those named on the Board are: Fred A. Henning, chairman, J. G. Edger, K. J. Hawkins, Jas. Renshaw, and Paul L. Farnham, representing the Alberta Municipal Districts.

The details reorganizing were conducted by Miss Susan Low.

LANGDON

The annual Mother's Day meeting of the W. I. was held in the Club Room on Wednesday afternoon May 10th. About forty ladies enjoyed the short program, delightful refreshments and a social time. The oldest and youngest mothers were presented with prizes. They were Mrs. A. Snider and Mrs. L. Welsheimer.

Friends of Langdon and district sympathize deeply with Mr. and Mrs. E. Albertson in the death of their little daughter Deane, aged eight years. Rev. A. Aldridge and Rev. H. E. Gordon conducted funeral services from Park Memorial Chapel on Saturday afternoon.

Wilson's General Store is being completely remodeled, and will be one of the most up to date stores in Alberta when completed.

EFFECTIVE SOIL DRIFTING CONTROL

Lethbridge Experimental Station. Are the present methods of soil drifting control as advocated by the Dominion Experimental Station, Lethbridge effective?

The District Experiment Sub-stations as outposts of the Lethbridge Experimental Station, have proved that the answer is "yes". As a testing ground for methods of soil drifting control, these stations are ideal. There are at present ten stations where the soil varies from a fine sandy loam to a heavy clay and where the total precipitation, including rain and snow, varies from an average annual amount of 11.3 inches at Cessford to 19.5 at Pincher Creek. Obviously the methods differ to some extent at different points and in different years.

Plan to visit your nearest sub-station and see for yourself the methods of soil drifting control which are being so effective.

Value of Soil Moisture

Are you interested in the value of soil moisture?

If you are, Bulletin 46—"Soil Moisture and Crop Production Under Dry Land Conditions in Western Canada" by S. Barnes has just been issued by the Dominion Department of Agriculture. In this publication 12 years of intensive soil moisture studies at the Dominion Experimental Station, Swift Current, Saskatchewan are reviewed. No dry land farmer in southern Alberta can afford to be without this bulletin.

FIGURES IN A BOOK?

What gives rise to a loan?

"Credit can only be based against real assets... The amount of credit must always be limited to the amount of free money..."

That was written by one of the greatest of Socialists—by the late Viscount Snowden of Letchworth, Philip Snowden, in 1935—little more than two years ago.

Few stood so long or so resolutely in the forefront of public controversy, or aroused such fierce opposition by vigour of opinion or severity of tongue—and none passed to his rest having earned greater public respect than Viscount Snowden.

His career was a triumph of sturdy British character. He took an unpopular course during the Great War, but later became one of his country's great figures, standing firmly for his convictions and for soundness in the financial structure of Great Britain.

His words quoted above apply to Canadian banking today with all the force with which he applied them that day to banking in England. The Canadian banking system is a British system, adjusted from time to time to fit the needs of a developing nation in the changing scene of this new world.

Credit can only be based on real assets as ever... figures in a book. You of deposits, collateral or loans up with a fountain pen. "Deposits" and lend them.

If you could, then bankers in any country would need no more than a fountain pen to prevent bank failures.

During the last ten fiscal years Canada's chartered banks have paid more than $37,000,000 in interest on deposits. If they could create deposits by the magic process of writing figures in a book, they could have saved that $37,000,000!

And if banks could lend ten times the amount of their deposits, collecting interest each time, bank profits would become a national scandal, dividends would be paid astronomical figures, people would be selling all they had to buy bank shares, and there would be a land office rush at Ottawa for bank charters.

But what is it? Bank profit: aged less than 10 per cent. on total assets—margin then that of any other class of business, corporate or individual.

Dividends are less than 4½ per cent. on shareholders' investment; nobody is scrambling to sell all he owns to invest in bank shares, and there is no land office rush at Ottawa for bank charters—though no application has been received in the last fifteen years.

Banks perform no miracles.

WHAT TURNER VALLEY MEANS

A short time ago the Toronto Saturday Night devoted one section to the Turner Valley oil fields, dealing at length with what this new major industry means to Canada. Observing from a narrow community standpoint, this district knows what a golden "the Valley" has been in absorbing the young people of the district, in giving employment and a high standard of wages, in giving specialized training, and increasing business volume generally.

But the importance of development is infinitely more increasing, swelling the revenues of both local governments and deserving of attention in providing markets, and all possible services.

Under the caption "All Canada Shares in the new wealth of Alberta," the Saturday Night discloses certain figures.

Eastern industries and railways are large beneficiaries. On one shipment of casing alone, to one company, the freight bill from Vancouver to Calgary (the shipment originally from England) was $22,000. An eastern manufacturer, employing Ontario labor shipped out 17 carloads of machinery recently to the Valley. Boilers, tanks, trucks, steel cement and so on are purchased from eastern companies. Carbons of auriferous acid and other chemicals go out from Montreal and other factories to be used in the Valley. These purchases benefit eastern labor and also roll up tidy sums for the railways.

A rotary outfit costing $125,000 pays in sales and excise tax from $12,000 to $16,000. One supply outfit selling drilling bits paid the Dominion government $24,000 in taxes last year. The federal government's revenue in these taxes is quoted as round $1,000,000 last year.

The Alberta government receives 32 per cent royalty on the oil from crown lands, and that means almost all but C. P. R., Hudson Bay and C. and E. lands.

In 1937, the royalties brought about $25,000, but are expected to reach $700,000 in 1938. This is quite aside from the gas tax, the income tax and all the sources of taxation which result from the added population, and the purchasing power resulting from a well-paid settlement.

There are under recent estimate 1200 men employed in the South Turner crude area—a working unit, little more than a year old. There are 10 oil companies with offices in Calgary and about 300 of an office staff. There are incidental businesses in the Valley, all increasing the population and contributing to the diversion of money and stir of industrial life.

There is new business in the Valley for insurance companies. Scarcely an element of the industrial life of Canada that is not strengthened by the oil industry.—High River Times.

"BET THEIR FRUITS (WORKS) YE SHALL KNOW THEM"

Premier Aberhart and several of his colleagues have left for Saskatchewan to actively spread their gospel of social credit to the voters of that Province, prior to the election which is scheduled for June. On what grounds they can justify their "Works" in Alberta is difficult to state. Surely if they try to premium the $25 monthly dividend the people of Saskatchewan will laugh them out of hearing. Point to Alberta! Increased salaries for themselves, increased taxes for the masses, uncertain legislation, a pretty record on which to canvas a new field.

A despatch from Vienna points a rosy picture of this way Anschluss has worked. It is now as if it had always been, says the writer. Which recalls a verse of Ibsen's: A bear untameable and wild, Has just devoured an infant child, The infant child is not aware It has been eaten by the bear.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By H. L. C. Strang
Director "Crop Testing Plant"

There likely to be a premium for milling barley next year? What variety shall I sow to gain this premium? Many farmers are now asking themselves these questions. No one, of course can forecast future prices or future premiums, but good milling barley will certainly always command a higher price than feed barley.

The National Barley Committee, which represents the most skilled scientific agriculturists dealing with the barley problem, recently recommended that only O. A. C. 21 or similar variety Ottawa 60 should, for this year, be eligible for milling premiums.

This really means that a prairie farmer, perhaps had better, confine himself for the time being to O. A. C. 21, for the reason that a considerable quantity of high quality Registered First and Second Generation O. A. C. 21, in the West, easily available, at moderate prices, to those who desire to improve their barley crops. To produce milling barley it is necessary to seed early on good clean land; barley is often grown, because it is early, on stubble, as a cleaning crop to get rid of weeds. The practice would ruin milling barley.

The growing of milling barley is really a specialty just as is the production of high quality wheat.

ASPARAGUS

During the asparagus season it should be served two or three times a week. It is a beautiful vegetable and good as a tonic. Here are a few suggestions as to ways you can serve asparagus. Where possible, select asparagus rather than bolt. 1—Buttered asparagus on toast. 2—Creamed asparagus on toast. 3—Asparagus and sweet bread. 4—Asparagus salad with French dressing. 5—Asparagus short cake. 6—Asparagus with poached eggs.
